

Tutorial 5 Solution

Question 1

The application developer can put reliable data transfer into the application layer protocol.

Question 2

For each received segment, at the socket interface, the operating system will provide the process with the source IP address.

Question 3

B53D